The moat

Scarcity premium: municipal moratoriums on new data center development constrain supply while AI demand grows. DLR's existing powered shells reprice higher, with cash renewal spreads hitting a record 25.4% in Q2 2026.

The growth engine

AI and hyperscale demand: $307M of Q2 bookings at 100% share ($208M at DLR share), two post-quarter hyperscale leases worth $410M annualized GAAP rent at 100% share, and 1.4 GW of development under construction.

BLENDED TARGET

The valuation uses a multi-year unlevered free cash flow DCF. The discount rate is the live CAPM rate: the 10-year Treasury yield plus beta times the market-implied equity risk premium. Terminal value is a Gordon perpetuity on terminal-year free cash flow.

Mechanics are explicit. The bridge runs revenue to EBIT to cash taxes, then adds back D&A and subtracts capex and working-capital investment to reach unlevered free cash flow. Targets are divided by diluted shares outstanding.

The franchise deep dive

Scarcity premium: municipal moratoriums on new data center development constrain supply while AI demand grows. DLR's existing powered shells reprice higher, with cash renewal spreads hitting a record 25.4% in Q2 2026.

AI and hyperscale demand: $307M of Q2 bookings at 100% share ($208M at DLR share), two post-quarter hyperscale leases worth $410M annualized GAAP rent at 100% share, and 1.4 GW of development under construction.

Interconnection moat: record $108M of 0-1 MW plus interconnection bookings in Q2 ($20.5M pure interconnection). Interconnection revenue is high-margin, sticky, and hard to replicate.

Funding flexibility: $12B+ of remaining hyperscale development capacity via the JV platform and closed-end fund; net debt to adjusted EBITDA 4.7x with BBB/Baa2 ratings.

DCF Base $176

~22x 2026 Core FFO guidance $8.15-8.20

Dividend yield 2.8%

DCF implies fair value at the current price. The multiple is full for a REIT and the yield offers little cushion with the 10Y near 5.1%.

EQIX ~24x 2026 AFFO guidance

DLR ~22x 2026 Core FFO guidance

DLR trades at a slight discount to Equinix despite comparable AI exposure; the discount reflects heavier development capex intensity and recent ATM dilution.

DLR has historically traded ~18-22x FFO

Now at the high end of its historical range

The premium reflects AI-driven demand, but it leaves no room for execution slips on the development pipeline.

What to monitor

Oct 29, 2026. Q3 2026 earnings. Consensus ~$1.76B revenue and ~$1.99 FFO/share; backlog conversion and renewal spreads in focus.

Ongoing. $1.4B signed-not-commenced backlog at DLR share (~30% of in-place data center rent) plus 1.4 GW under construction converting to revenue through 2027.

2027. Management sees confidence to extend double-digit core FFO per share growth runway into 2027 and beyond on backlog visibility.

The bear case

Funding and dilution

2026 development capex guidance of $4.25-4.75B (net of partner contributions) is funded partly by equity: 13.5M ATM shares ($2.5B) sold in H1 2026. Continued dilution would drag per-share growth.

Development execution and power

1.4 GW under construction must be delivered on time with secured power. Municipal pushback on grid strain and water usage, the same dynamic driving the scarcity premium, can also delay DLR's own pipeline.

Rate sensitivity

At ~22x 2026 core FFO with the 10Y near 5.1%, the REIT multiple is rate-sensitive. A higher-for-longer rate regime would compress the valuation even if operations deliver.

Catalysts & Risk	Q3 print on Oct 29 is the near-term swing factor. Key risks: development execution and funding (heavy capex plus ATM dilution), power and permitting delays on the pipeline, hyperscale customer concentration, and rate sensitivity of the REIT multiple.	65

Investment view

The Oct 29 Q3 print is the swing factor: another beat-and-raise with backlog growth would support the Bull case toward $212, while a funding-heavy print with more ATM dilution or power delays on the pipeline would push toward the $142 Bear case. Sustained renewal spreads above 10% would lift Forward Growth and Valuation.

Investment view: Hold. The $176.72 blended target implies +1%, balancing the $141.91 / $176.41 / $212.14 Bear / Base / Bull outcomes.
