Pillar Breakdown

1. Operating Quality — 85

Dominant custom ASIC and AI networking franchise with VMware as a second cash engine. 75% gross margins, 54% operating margins, $30B+ annual FCF. Tempered by acquisition-driven leverage ($59.4B debt) and hyperscaler concentration.

2. Recent Trend — 88

Revenue accelerating violently: $16.0B to $29.6B quarterly in a year, AI revenue tripling (+221%), FCF +95%, GAAP net income +200%. Only blemish is gross margin down 210 bps on XPU mix.

3. Forward Growth — 85

Q4 guide implies 93% growth with AI at $21.7B (+236%). Management sees AI revenue doubling to ~$115B in FY27 and again to ~$230B in FY28, targeting $30+ EPS. Concentration in a few hyperscalers is the offset.

4. Valuation — 60

DCF base $316.41 sits ~2% below spot, so absolute upside is absent. But forward P/E of 17x and PEG of 0.34 are undemanding for this growth, and the stock is cheaper than custom-silicon peers.

5. Catalysts & Risk — 65

December Q4 print and Ironwood/TPU ramps are near-term positives. Risks: customer concentration, lower-margin XPU mix, China networking review, EU VMware scrutiny. Skew roughly balanced.

Investment Thesis

- AI Silicon at Hyperscale: Custom AI accelerators and networking to Google, Anthropic, and OpenAI. AI semiconductor revenue hit $16.7B (+221% YoY), 56% of total revenue [8-K earn].
- Guidance Compounds the Story: Q4 FY26 guide: $34.8B revenue (+93% YoY) with $21.7B AI (+236%). FY27 AI revenue guided to ~$115B, doubling again to ~$230B in FY28 [8-K guid].
- Two Engines, One Cash Machine: VMware infrastructure software grew 29% with 15% ARR growth, offsetting lower-margin XPU mix. Quarterly FCF of $13.7B (+95%) funds the AI buildout [8-K earn]. Per-share targets are divided by a projected terminal-year share count, the current diluted count shrinking 1.5% a year for buybacks as documented in the model, rather than by the current diluted count itself.

Valuation

Absolute (5/10)

P/E (fwd) 17.0x [Mkt 17-Oct-26]
DCF Base $316.41 [Mkt 17-Oct-26]
PEG 0.34 [Mkt 17-Oct-26]

DCF base sits ~2% below spot, so no absolute upside. Forward earnings multiple is undemanding for 90%+ revenue growth.

Versus Peers (6/8)

MRVL 31x fwd P/E [Peers 17-Oct-26]
ALAB 45x P/E [Peers 17-Oct-26]

AVGO trades cheaper than high-growth custom silicon peers on forward earnings.

Versus History (4/7)

EV/EBITDA (TTM) 30.7x [Mkt 17-Oct-26]
elevated vs history

Multiple stretched by the AI rerating; the growth trajectory must now carry it.

Catalyst Timeline

Dec 2026 [Cons]
Q4 FY26 Earnings (Positive): $34.8B revenue guide with ~$21.7B AI semiconductor revenue. The defining test of the FY27 $115B trajectory.

FY2027 [8-K guid]
Custom Silicon Ramps (Positive): Ironwood TPU v7 shipping to Google and Anthropic, TPU v8i in production, OpenAI first-gen accelerator delivered.

Top Risk Factors (Item 1A)

1. Customer Concentration: A handful of hyperscalers (Google, Meta, OpenAI, Anthropic) drive AI revenue; loss of share or a design loss at any major customer would be material. [10-K FY25]

2. Margin Mix Shift: Custom AI accelerators carry expensive HBM and lower gross margins. As AI grows as a share of mix, gross margin fell 210 bps sequentially. [8-K earn]

3. Regulatory Overhang: Potential China review of Broadcom networking gear and EU scrutiny of

> 2026-27 [Cons]
> Regulatory Overhang (Two-Sided): Potential China review of networking gear and EU scrutiny of VMware licensing terms.

What Would Change Our Score

A Q4 FY26 beat above the $34.8B guide that keeps the $115B FY27 AI trajectory intact would lift Forward Growth and Trend. Conversely, a major customer share loss or a China/EU regulatory hit would cut growth and quality scores.

VMware licensing terms could disrupt two core franchises. [Cons]

Forward Growth Drivers

- Custom AI accelerator ramps at Google (Ironwood TPU v7/v8i), Anthropic, and OpenAI [8-K guid]
- AI networking fabric: Ethernet scale-out for hyperscale AI clusters [8-K guid]
- VMware Private AI Cloud plus 15% ARR growth; enterprise workload repatriation [8-K guid]
